Impacts of using unregulated CBD Oil

What is CBD Oil?

CBD Oil stands for cannabidiol and is widely used for medicinal purposes.

The purchase of CBD Oil in NZ is legal, but only as prescription medication with a script from your GP.

What is the Risk?

CBD Oil can also be purchased (un-regulated) privately, the risk is the unknown levels of THC in the product which can cause impairment.

There have been a number of non-negative tests during drug screening linked to CBD Oil.

Most employers require a script from your GP for medication, this must be declared up front. Please discuss with your Supervisor or Manager.
